

Academy Is Used In Making Movies For General Motors Corp.

Film Will Be Shown to Millions of People Say Producers

During the past week, Staunton Military Academy cadets were included in a picture now being made by the Chevrolet Motor Company. This picture, made by the Jam Handy Picture Service, Inc., producer of motion pictures for business use, was directed here at Staunton by Mr. Edward W. A. Seward and included the Staunton Military Academy cadets in their different drill formations on the parade ground.

While this picture is being produced by the Chevrolet Motor Company and will be used to illustrate a number of mechanical principles involving moving objects, the picture is also made interesting by the inclusion of other phases of moving objects and people. The Chevrolet Motor Company was anxious to include the different formations of military school boys in their drilling, and fortunately for Staunton selected the school and the cadets to illustrate that part of the picture. Mention will be made of Staunton Military Academy in the picture at the places where the boys are shown. The film, when finished, will be used by Chevrolet Motor Service Clubs all over the country and be shown to different clubs and other organizations. The Chevrolet Motor Company assures the school that the picture will be shown before ten million people and used in a very dignified way as an instructional and educational picture of the progress that has been made in the mechanical development of moving objects. Staunton was happy to co-operate with the Chevrolet Motor Company in the making of this picture, for the school believes this picture, used and shown to this wide extent, will be valuable and dignified publicity, thus increasing the ever-growing number of people who know Staunton as one of the older, better established military schools of America.

Captain Pence Is Dean Of Lutheran Training School

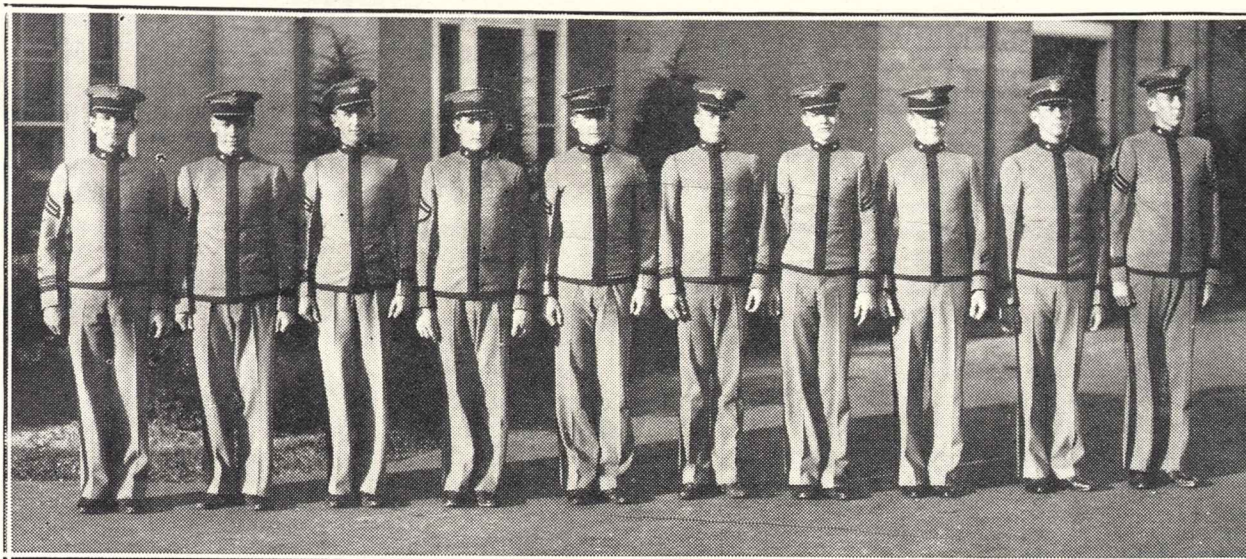

Captain J. W. Pence is again dean of the Lutheran Standard Leadership Training School of Augusta County. This school is conducted for two weeks each year in Christ Lutheran Church of this city and offers the Standard Leadership Training Courses of the International Council of Churches. This school is interdenominational, but is chiefly attended by Lutheran Sunday School teachers and other religious workers of the Lutheran churches of this county. As dean of the school, Captain Pence plans the organization, supervises the instruction in the different classes, and signs the certificates of those who meet the requirements laid down by the International Council of Churches. Five different courses are being offered in this year's school.

Kablegram Fails For First Time to Forecast Results

Along with the Literary Digest and six other national institutions whose straw votes predicted the election of Governor Landon, The Kablegram admits its false forecast. Our only consolation is that it is the first time, like our famous contemporaries, that we have failed to forecast accurately the national election results.

Both in 1928 and in 1932 The Kablegram polls were a very accurate estimate of the outcome of the general elections. Our straw-vote editor has been in hiding ever since the first election returns began to arrive Tuesday evening and could not be reached for a statement.

CADET HONOR COMMITTEE FOR SESSION 1936-37

The Cadet Honor Committee for this session, which was installed two weeks ago, performed its first function of the year when it interviewed each cadet in the corps and gave him the opportunity to sign the Honor Code. Reading from left to right: Messer, Kehs, Kaulback, Knight, Armstrong, Patch, Seiberling, Brafford, Stevens, Foran.

Entire Corps Signs Pledge To Uphold Honor System

Immediately after inspection last Saturday morning the corps marched, by companies, into the library to sign and receive from the Honor Committee printed copies and frames of the S. M. A. Honor Code. The frames are 5 1/2 x 3 1/4 inches, and are to set on the desk of each cadet as a constant reminder to him of the obligations which he must fulfill. The code embodies not only the specific duties of a signer of the honor pledge, but also the fact that he shall act honorably in all phases of cadet life. Each cadet who signs this code binds himself to observe it.

Although signing is not compulsory, the vast majority realize the necessity of living under an honor system in a school of this kind and take it upon themselves to help enforce one.

The Honor Committee had two tables in the library, at each of which four members of the Committee were stationed. The cadets came into the library in two columns, one passing by each table. As a cadet approached a table, one of the Committee asked him if he desired to sign the Honor Code. If the cadet replied in the affirmative he was handed a card on which the Code is printed, which he signed in the presence of witnesses. He was then given a frame in which to place his copy of the Code, and his name was listed.

The Honor Committee recently met and organized as follows: Chairman, Kaulback; secretary, Armstrong. Other members of the Committee are Foran, Brafford, Stevens, G., Seiberling, Patch, Messer, Kehs, and Knight.

First Two Hunters of the Season Bring 'em Back Dead From the Jungles of Middle River

It was a beautiful Sunday afternoon—one of those fall days when the maypole dance and spring fever are far from the mind and soul. Some cadets slept, others had dates, still others went hiking, one studied, but two of our up-and-coming Nimrods girded their loins and went forth to conquer the surrounding Forest Primeval. If Daniel Boone made history with an old muzzle-loader, they thought, what couldn't one accomplish with a modern army life.

They proceeded cautiously up hill and down vale to the dangerous zone around Middle River, encountering nothing more formidable than haystacks, pumpkins, and an occasional itinerant crow. Then suddenly Big Nimrod seized his companion frantically by the sleeve and whispered hoarsely: "The Redskins are upon us!" Sure enough, on a nearby hillside could be seen several dusky forms moving among the tall grass.

Taking shelter behind a tree here and a boulder there, our heroes ad-

Major James reports a most interesting meeting which was attended by most of the outstanding scientists of America.

Parents' Day Changed From Thanksgiving To Monday After Easter

School Announces New Date as Monday, March Twenty-ninth

PARENTS WELCOME AT ANY TIME, HOWEVER

As the old cadets and the patrons of last year know, Thanksgiving Day was set aside as Parents' Day. All parents represented at Staunton were invited to return and a program of events including dress parade, a football game, Thanksgiving dinner, parents' conference, and the formal Thanksgiving Dance was arranged in their honor.

For the following reasons, a committee of the faculty have thought that Easter Monday would be a more appropriate date for this day and that parents would appreciate more fully an invitation to come at that time: First, on Thanksgiving Day we are in danger of having less desirable weather than we would have on a day in the early spring here in the Shenandoah Valley. Second, since many parents have visited the school during the nicer week-ends of the fall term and Thanksgiving is only three weeks away from the cadets' return Easter time, coming at the middle of the longer term, furnishes a more desirable date for parents, especially from distant states, to visit the school. Third, the Easter date would enable us to include in the program a more attractive dress parade and also the school yearly exhibition, in recent years crowded into the Commencement exercises. Fourth, the date will give parents an opportunity to visit the school at a more attractive season of the year and also furnish a chance to visit their sons at the middle of the longer term.

Special invitations will go forward to parents in time for them to make their arrangements to visit the school. "This announcement," said the Superintendent, "does not mean that our patrons are not cordially welcome at any time they may choose to visit the school. We are delighted to have them. It merely means that we are changing the date of the day we want to have here at Staunton in their honor, from Thanksgiving Day to Easter Monday, March 29."

Brafford and Patch Score Perfect in Diagnostic Tests

Statistics recently compiled from the diagnostic tests administered to English classes indicate that the English IV class stands appreciably higher than corresponding groups of former years. The median of 91.82 compares favorably with that of 88.72, earned by the class of 1935-36. On this year's scores, Brafford and Patch led, with perfect totals of 112; Seiberling, Barry, and Sencer were close to the leaders.

The English III group shows a decrease from last year's standard, this session's median of 77.8 being about 5% lower than last year's median. Grossman, with a score of 107, leads the class, with Meads, Shull, and Tremble following.

The diagnostic tests are carefully analyzed; and during the second quarter individual instruction will be based upon results of these various tests, which are designed to measure the student's ability in Capitalization, Punctuation, Grammar, and Sentence Structure.

Educated

What has education done for America? For one thing it has placed among every 1,000 of adult Americans 23 college graduates and 125 high school graduates. The chances of a boy or girl going to college have increased since 1900 from one in 333 to one in six. And the chances of going to high school have increased since 1890 from one in 25 to one in two. This has been accomplished at a present cost of 10 cents per day for every person of voting age in the United States.

As a result of this extension of educational advantages there are thousands of men and women who are better able to support themselves and their dependents, who are better qualified to vote intelligently, who are better able to govern themselves and to help others govern themselves and who are producing more for the comfort, happiness and security of all.

Neither a college nor a high school education is a guarantee of financial success or mental maturity. Education can do nothing for some people. But education has never hurt anyone, although it has been accused of many crimes.—Free Lance-Star.

CLASS OF 1940 NUMBERS 300,000

The number of freshmen who have enrolled in American colleges and universities this fall is approximately 300,000, according to Time, the weekly news magazine.

The New England members of this class of 1940 are the tallest group of human beings in the world, according to the American Medical Association. Their average height is 178.03 centimeters (about 5 feet 10 inches).

New York University has the nation's biggest total enrollment, 42,850 students.

At Harvard each applicant had to average a new high of 75% in his College Board examination in order to be enrolled as a freshman there. It seems that 1050 made the grade.

STAUNTON OVERWHELMED BY MASSANUTTEN, 27-6

Staunton, Va., Oct. 24.—Outclassed by a smooth, aggressive Massanutten Military Academy eleven, Staunton Military's team was sent down in its first State prep game here today, 27-6.

Bezarro's pass to Murray accounted for the first score after a Staunton fumble was recovered by Massanutten on the eight-yard line. Halfback Terry made two more in the second period, one on an interception and a sixty-yard run, another when he picked up his own fumble at midfield and ran through the Staunton team. Staunton capitalized a fumble after the half to score from the Massanutten 37-yard line on Matuza's beautiful catch of Laux's long pass.

Captain Cox Has Interesting And Profitable Vacation

Is Honored at R. O. T. C. Camp For Excellent Service

Captain Cox had a most interesting summer vacation up in New England. Part of the summer he attended a camp at Fort Devens, Massachusetts, for reserve officers of the United States Chemical Warfare Service.

While acting there as an instructor in infantry drill and pistol marksmanship, he won, for the third successive year, and gained permanent possession of the "Maddux Cup," the trophy that has been awarded annually to the chemical reserve officer of the First Corps Area, making the highest official score with the .45 calibre automatic pistol. Besides commanding a chemical platoon in the firing of the army's new 4.2-inch chemical mortars, Captain Cox planned and supervised the carrying out of a tactical night problem involving the use of chemical division troops in the support of an infantry attack.

By the end of camp, since he had completed all the required courses of instructions, Captain Cox was awarded a certificate of his capacity for promotion to the grade of major in the U. S. Chemical Warfare Reserve Corps. However, he must serve two more years in his present grade before he becomes eligible for promotion to a major's rank.

Captain Cox also spent a week in Maine, driving up along the coast as far as New Brunswick, Canada. While on his way north, he stopped and looked at the government's much-discussed Passamaquoddy project for harnessing the tides to generate electric power, which method he said seemed entirely feasible if the co-operation of the Canadian government could be secured. He then drove inland through the Moosehead Lake region and from there back to his home in Norwell, Mass., where he spent the rest of the summer.

The Staunton Players To Present "As Husbands Go"

Cadets and faculty who have seen them perform will be interested in learning that The Staunton Players are to present their first play of the season, 1936-1937, on Friday evening, November 6, at 8:30 p. m., in the auditorium of R. E. Lee High School.

The play is "As Husbands Go," a light and witty comedy of manners by Rachel Crothers, well-known woman dramatist. The situation with which the story deals is that of the trials and perplexities of two ladies from Dubuque, Iowa, who take a trip to Paris and absorb perhaps an overdose of European culture, meet perhaps too many charming Continentals.

Several of the faculty are members of the Staunton Players. Cadets in the industrial design classes have also aided in the productions in past years.

Single tickets for "As Husbands Go" will be on sale at Kennedy's Drug Store, at 75 cents each. Season tickets at $1.50 for the three plays to be given during the year can be obtained from members of The Staunton Players.

Staunton Junior Varsity Defeats Low Moor Eleven

Staunton's Junior Varsity defeated the Low Moor team by the score of 36-6. Most of the scoring was piled up by Grace, who made four touchdowns and was successful in running the ball over instead of a kick for an extra point. Traut made many of these plays possible with excellent passing and running, and both received fine co-operation from those playing on the line.

JUNIOR SCHOOL NOTES

(Written and Edited by Cadets of the Junior School)

Last Saturday night the Junior School had a Hallowe'en party. Among the things on the program was a "Horror Chamber" which consisted of shocks, smudged faces and fortune telling. We also had games and refreshments.

We had several contests at the Hallowe'en party. The two winners were Colonel Cole, who won a team prize, and Bobby Seigle, who won a cracker-eating contest.

Julian Klein looks like a football hero, because he has a hurt arm and has to carry it in a sling.

The Junior School had an election and Roosevelt won by fifteen votes. We had sample ballots.

Landau would have had a nice dog if the owner had not been found. At drill period a cab came for the dog. We wonder if the owner can still smell the lilac powder that Landau rubbed on the dog, after giving him a bath under the showers.

The general aim of the Educational Records Bureau is to find a better, fairer, more dependable, and more scientific way of measuring and evaluating the work of the preparatory school student. Every possible device, as a result of scientific investigation, is being tried in order that the blundering, inaccurate, less dependable, and personal way of measuring and evaluating the individual's work may be corrected.

Society Debates Question Of Relief Administration

At its last regular session, the Woodrow Wilson Literary Society held an open forum debate upon the question of relief administration, a topic which excited some heated discussion; most of the debate followed along lines of political allegiance. The decision of the judges was in favor of those opposed to our present system of relief.

At each of its meetings the regular business of the society has consisted primarily in election and installation of new members. From the number of applications, conditions point favorably toward a successful year. As soon as the membership becomes more fixed, it is planned to devote a greater period of time to regular programs.

Because of the proximity of examinations, no meeting was held this week. The next open forum topic will be on the comparative demerits of fascism and communism as modes of government.

During the last two weeks we have had many visitors at our school. Mr. and Mrs. Easterling, Mr. Ganzi, Mr. and Mrs. Berman, Mrs. Giles and Mrs. Guth have been our guests.

There are two minor rivals in the Junior School. They are Schultz's canary from America and Seigle's, from Italy. Which do you like, American singing or Italian singing?

Nicholas Gal, a new cadet, was added to the Junior School last week. Nicholas spent this summer in Europe and saw many interesting things while there.

At the Hallowe'en party, a play written by Cadet Walker was put on by the cadets of our school.

If we can get a suitable opponent our football team will play a game with some outside team.

New books are still being added to our collection and soon we shall have a large library.

The local "Y" meets in the school library every other Sunday night. Any cadet interested in joining the organization is welcome to join the discussions at any meeting, and, if he so desires, become an active member.

Staunton Downs Fishburne Score, Thirty-three to Six

Despite a gritty struggle against an opponent that outpowered, outweighed, and outnumbered them, so far as reserves were concerned, Fishburne Military School bowed to a far superior Staunton Military Academy eleven last Friday afternoon, thirty-three to six. The game was played on Fishburne's field, with the bands of the two schools, the two cadet corps, a bevy of pretty girls from nearby, and a large crowd of spectators on hand to enliven the colorful occasion.

Receiving the kickoff at the opening of the game, Staunton's fast heavy backs, led by Johnson and Laux, moved rapidly down the field for two markers. The first score came on the third play of the game, after one first down, when Johnson broke through the line and ran twenty yards to the payoff marker. Try for extra point by placement failed.

Fishburne received, but on three plays failed to gain. Electing to punt on the fourth down, Wolfe's effort was blocked, and the ball went over to Staunton on Fishburne's twenty-yard line. In three plays Johnson rushed the pigskin over for the second touchdown of the initial period. Try for extra point by a linesman was good.

Fishburne tightened somewhat in the second period and prevented the local eleven from scoring. However, no less than five first downs were rolled up by the Blue and Gold during the period.

Staunton had the ball several times in scoring position during this period, but each attempt to cross the last white marker failed. Once on Fishburne's twenty-five-yard line, three passes came in a row, but the last fell just beyond the reach of the receiver in the end zone. Fishburne, of course, punted out of danger. Frequent fumbles, most of them recovered, marred this Staunton attack.

Once again in the second canto, S. M. A. rushed the ball to the three-yard line, but a fifteen-yard penalty ruined another chance for a score.

Still again late in the period, a pass netted Staunton a thirty-yard gain and the ball was on Fishburne's five-yard line. An offside penalty spoiled another chance to tally.

Staunton rolled up thirteen more points in the third frame. Her linesmen opened huge gaps in the lighter Fishburne line, and Johnson and Laux plowed through for long gains. This boy Laux was certainly hard to stop. He and Johnson smashed viciously off tackle and around ends for wonderful gains, as S. M. A.'s line did its part to every man.

After Fishburne had received the kickoff, they just couldn't gain and were forced to punt. Staunton marched steadily down the field to Fishburne's one-foot line, where on fourth down Laux went over. Four first downs laid the ground for this score.

In the latter part of this period, Staunton resorted to passes. A heave from Schupska was intercepted by Springer, who ran the oval to Staunton's twenty-yard line. A fifteen-yard penalty placed the ball on the local's five-yard line, from where Springer took it over for Fishburne's lone marker. Stroud's placement kick was blocked.

Staunton's final score came in the fourth period when Trout, substituting for Schupska, shot a long pass to Matusa, and the rangy Staunton end stepped over the line for a touchdown. Try for the extra point from placement was good.

Trout played brilliantly while in the game, his line smashes suddenly turned into reversings of his field, thrilling the spectators. He, Laux,

Soccer Team Wins Two Games

The S. M. A. soccer team, under the coaching of Captain Collins, and management of Cadet Cartegena, has rolled up a record of two decisive victories. Only two games have been played so far, but more will follow.

The first game of the year was played with the Churchville High School soccer team at Churchville. The Churchville team was defeated by S. M. A. with a score of 5-1. The scoring done in this game was due to the efforts of Diaz, who put over a total of four goals, and Rose, who made one. Hamilton of Churchville, made their lone goal. The members of the soccer squad who participated in this game were: Crothers, Rose, Diaz, Perrine, Richardson, Suarez, Louis, Lesburg, Delpino, Fletcher, Bradstreet, Benincasa, Davis, Fernau, Marcantonio, and Cartegena.

The second game of the season was also a victory with a score of 4-0, the scoring being done by Richardson and Diaz, who both made two goals. The lineup in this game was the same as the preceding game, with the exception of Ball, who played in the second game.

Tennis Tournament Is Hindered by Bad Weather

The annual tennis tournament has nearly been completed with three matches to be played in the quarter final round, and these winners will play in the semi-final round to be held soon. In the quarter final round McAdoo finally won over Stephens in a hard fought match by the scores: 6-2, 2-6, 6-2. Krug was beaten in an upset by Friml by the scores 6-2, 6-1. Vosburg also defeated Beilinson 6-0, 6-1. The cold weather of the past week has hindered the other matches between Normand and Overton, Tremble and Hubbard, and Fairbairn vs. the winner of the Franklin and Lang match.

Schupska, and Johnson packed a tremendous wallop on the offensive, and will surely be heard from the rest of the season. The entire Staunton line played excellent football, despite the fact that substitutions were frequent, especially during the last half.

Wolfe, tall, rangy Fishburne end, kept his team frequently out of danger by his long boots. One went for seventy yards. Harrell and Springer bore the major part of Fishburne's offensive.

Gen. Pershing's Picture Is Presented To School By Mr. Samuel B. Wright

Mr. Samuel B. Wright, owner and proprietor of Wright's Art Store, East Beverley Street, Staunton, has very generously presented Staunton Military Academy with a dry-point etching of General Pershing's favorite and official photograph. Mr. Wright secured this etching in New York City and then framed it beautifully in an attractive gold frame. This picture framed in this manner is a very beautiful and attractive gift and should be an inspiration to thousands of Staunton Military Academy cadets as they pass through the school and try in some way to add to their characters and development some of the characteristics that made General Pershing one of the most distinguished and most beloved men of his profession.

This picture will hang on the wall of the Commandant's office in North Barracks. Major Louisell, the present Commandant of the school, is delighted to have this picture in his office and joins the cadet corps in thanking Mr. Wright for this beautiful gift.

THE BEAUTY OF RANK

Lieutenant (roaring with rage): "Who told you to put those flowers on the table?"
Steward: "The commander, sir."
Lieutenant: "Pretty, aren't they?"

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

RUFUS McGOOFUS SAYS

AN ODE TO PENNYPACKER, THE BUGLER

Out where the buttons seem a little tighter,
 Out where the buckle seems a little brighter,
 Out where the girth becomes a little longer,
 Out where the straining seems a little stronger,
 That's where the vest begins.

DID YOU KNOW?

For every cadet that goes to the library, ten stay in their rooms.

For every cadet who has beat Friday nights, five go to town.

For every cadet who believes Green, fifty know better.

For every cadet who goes to the Stonewall Jackson to eat, four go to boast about it afterwards.

For every cadet who comes out satisfied, four come out still hungry.

For every cadet who goes to the dances, ten go to the Monday morning exercises.

All who go to the Monday morning exercises wish they were at a dance.

MY IDEA OF NOTHING AT ALL

An English Theme,

The fellow who "never comes up for air," when you lend him your bottle of "Coke."

The fellow who is reminded of something "along the same lines" (only better and longer) by your relation of some experience or story.

Those dumbbells who ask Percy why they don't get mail.

Being stuck for disturbance after taps on a night when there is a dance in the gym.

Six sweepers watching the "rats" clean up outside the South Barracks. Study Hall on a Saturday night, after being in town all day, and no school the next day.

Getting almost to the head of the line at "Woodwards Hut" and hear a boy say, "Hey, rat, get outa the way."

A pawn-broker trying to trim Breslin.

"I wanna make an appeal to you boys," etc.

—Rufus McGoofus

NEW SONG HITS OF S. M. A.

Like the big fifteen song hits of the nation each week, S. M. A. has its own also. Only to be different we call ours the best ten of the week. They are:

Collingwood—I Can't Escape From You.

Dude Tappen—When I'm With You?

Kaulbach—Bye, Bye, Baby.

Jack Green—You Turned the Tables On Me.

Mooney—A Fine Romance.

Kennedy—I Ain't Got No "Body."

Lewis, S.—Little Man, You've Had a Busy Day.

Trumbull—Never Going to Dance.

Sencer—I Never Had a Chance.

Gilbert, J.—Graduation March.

I understand that Dud Tappen is going to go to Kentucky University next year. Of course he is going for study.

Why didn't they tell us that Bing Crosby's prodigy would entertain us at the shin-dig? Maybe that is why it was a success. Tisk-tisk!

The cadets who wore "cits" forgot to take off their masks.

Don't you think Gibson had a good costume, or was that a costume?

Poor little Seifert found his lost

ARMISTICE DAY POEM

By R. E. Lees

In Flanders' fields, where poppies grow,
 Men lie buried, row by row.
 Men who died on foreign ground
 When their country's call was sound.

In Flanders' fields, where poppies grow,
 Lie buried the men we do not know.
 Men who gave their life, their all,
 On Flanders' fields, where they did fall.

In Flanders' fields, where poppies grow,
 Flags are waving above the snow.
 Flags of Truth forever wave
 For the honored dead, to mark their grave.

In Flanders' fields, where poppies grow,
 We find the bivouac of men we know.
 God made those bodies and gave them breath,
 What right had Man to require their death?

raincoat hanging in his room. My! My!

I'll bet that Sencer felt at home in his mountaineer costume.

I can't understand why so many cadets have changed to bridge.
