

General Notice to Parents
Concerning Closing of Term

The school year will close at noon Tuesday, June first. All cadets will be free to leave immediately after final retreat not later than noon on Tuesday.

Cadets traveling East, North, or South may leave on the local train leaving Staunton at 1:42 p. m., making connections for the South and Washington at 4:10 p. m. in Charlottesville, and arriving in Washington at 7:25 p. m. Those traveling East or North can make better connections by taking the 11:22 p. m. train, this train arriving in New York the next morning at 9:05 a. m. Cadets traveling West may leave at 4:05 p. m. or on an equally good train leaving Staunton at 9:41 p. m. Cadets will not be permitted to hitchhike home, or to travel in cars of other boys or other parents unless the school has your permission for your son to return home in this way.

Please do not ask that boys be excused before the regular closing of the school, for if one permission is granted a large number must be granted and the term cannot end in an orderly and dignified way.

When sending instructions for your son's return home, please make all checks payable to Staunton Military Academy and write the Treasurer full instructions concerning your wishes.

Very sincerely yours,
(Signed) EMORY J. MIDDOUR,
Colonel: Superintendent.

Overton, Kitchens, Scott, Enter Golf Tournament

Staunton's entries in the Golf Tournament for Virginia School Boys are Cadets E. B. Overton and R. H. Kitchens in the senior division and Cadet W. C. Scott in the division for boys under sixteen years of age. The tournament is now in progress at the Woodberry Forest School at Orange, Virginia. This afternoon a driving contest for distance and direction is being held, and tomorrow thirty-six holes of match play will determine the state individual Senior and Junior championships and the two-man team championship. Both Cadet Kitchens and Overton have made excellent scores this year on the Woodberry course, but they will have to compete in the tournament with last year's individual senior champion and last year's championship team.

MEADS ELECTED PRESIDENT OF Y.M.C.A. FOR NEXT YEAR

At a special meeting last Tuesday night the Cadet Y. M. C. A. elected Cadet Donald Meads, of Ridgewood, New Jersey, as its president for next year. Other officers elected were Howard, vice-president; Smith, S., secretary; Hoover, treasurer, and Nicholson, chairman of the membership committee.

The retiring officers are Seiberling, president; Meads, vice-president; Bissell, secretary, and Patch, chairman of the membership committee.

Plays For Final Ball

JOHNNY HAMP

Johnny Hamp's Band to Play For Final Ball*One of Most Talented and Versatile Dance Orchestras in Country

The Staunton cadet corps, their guests, and parents will be treated on Monday night, May 31, to the music of one of the country's most talented and versatile bands, that of Johnny Hamp, who has recently concluded a long engagement with his orchestra at the Rainbow Grill atop Radio City and is coming to us through arrangements made with Consolidated Radio Artists, Inc. The name of Johnny Hamp is known from coast to coast because of the orchestra's many network broadcasts, phonograph recordings, and personal appearances at some of the nation's leading hotels and night clubs. Among the many spots played by Johnny Hamp and his orchestra during the past few seasons are the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Drake, Congress, and the Black Hawk Cafe in Chicago; the Hotel New Yorker and the famous Rainbow Grill in New York; the Cocoanut Grove and Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles; the Netherland Plaza Hotel in Cincinnati; and the Kit Kat Club in London. One of the featured artists with the band is Miss Millicent Hope, stunning songstress. Besides playing good dance rhythm, Hamp is noted for his numerous specialties, including vocal solos, his glee club, and the singing trio known as the "Kentucky Sereaders." This dance will be the final formal and will be the last S. M. A. dance some of us will have the opportunity to attend. The informal dance, at which the Virginians will play, will be held on Saturday night, May 29. Cadets are all expected to come and make the dance the biggest and best of the year. For those who have parents coming to the final ball, it is urged that they secure guest tickets for their parents at no extra charge in order that there be no confusion.

Senior Class Holds Annual Banquet Tonight

The Senior banquet will be held tonight at six-thirty o'clock at the Stonewall Jackson Hotel. This banquet is one long looked forward to by all cadets, but especially by seniors, as it marks the fast nearing achievement of a goal that can be attained only by hard work and perseverance—graduation. Since it is not meant to interfere with the regular Friday night leave, all seniors attending the banquet will be allowed eleven o'clock leave. Colonel and Mrs. Middour and several of the faculty and their wives will also attend as guests of the senior class of 1937.

S. M. A. Cadet Wins State
Prep Tennis Championship

Last Saturday the Staunton doubles team, Fairbairn and Tremble, and the singles entry, Aurand, journeyed to Charlottesville for the State Preparatory and High School Tennis Tournament. Aurand defeated Cullison of Fork Union in a hard fought match for the singles title, by the scores: 6-4, 6-3. Late in the afternoon he played the winner of the high school championship for the combined state title, losing a close match to Gibson, of Roanoke, Virginia.

The doubles team, Tremble and Fairbairn, were defeated in their bid for the state doubles title against Cullison and McNair, of Fork Union.

The last match of the tennis season will be played Saturday afternoon against a strong Washington and Lee freshman team at Lexington.

A brief summary of the season shows the blue and gold team winning four matches, tying one, and losing three, though all matches played in the state against the military schools were won. These victories were over Fork Union, Fishburne, Massanutten, and Hargrave.

Col. Sutherland Addresses
Mary Baldwin Science Club

Recently, Colonel Sutherland addressed the Mary Baldwin Science Club at the request of Miss Dorothy Cohen, the president. As his topic, he chose "The Second Most Important Gas in the World, Carbon Dioxide."

Aided by Cadet Yablonsky, he presented many experiments involving Carbon Dioxide. Two of the most interesting were: Demonstrating Carbon Dioxide in a solid form attaining a Fahrenheit temperature of one hundred and nine degrees below zero; freezing mercury into a hammer-like object and driving nails with the frozen mercury.

Many Medals And Prizes To Be Awarded At
Final Exercises Tuesday*Cadets Making Highest Averages
In Academic Work To Receive Honors

On Tuesday morning, June 1st, the cadet awards will be made at the graduation exercises in Kable gymnasium. As is customary, medals will be given to those who make the highest averages in each subject during the year.

Medals will be given for the following subjects: mathematics, history, chemistry, physics, biology, modern languages, English, Latin. Cadets will also receive medals for the Highest Honor, Colonial Daughters Essay, and Kable Legion of Honor.

There will also be given a number of books for excellence in subjects. Military awards will be made at this same time for best drilled cadet, captain of Honor Company, efficiency in the Band, elementary military science, and advanced military science.

Kablegram Staff Will Hold Annual Banquet

Next Friday night, May 28, the annual banquet will be held at the "Triangle" for members of the Kablegram staff for the past year. The dinner will start promptly at six-thirty o'clock. After the dinner Captain Moody will present keys to those who have done exceptional work on the Kablegram this past year, bronze keys to those who have completed one year's work and silver keys to those who have been members of the staff for two years or who have done outstanding work. Silver keys will be presented to Cadets Davis, G., Mooney, Campbell, Aurand, and Ashwell, while bronze ones will go to Cadets Seiberling, Gilbert, J., Greene, J., Grossman, and Drake, Howell, W., and Greer.

Four S. M. A. Graduates Win Athletic Honors at U. of Va.

Four recent graduates of Staunton Military Academy were awarded athletic honors and insignia at the University of Virginia by the athletic council at their meeting on March 15 at the conclusion of the 1937 mid-winter sports schedules. Capt. Fred Cramer, of the Cavalier boxing team, won a varsity letter and a set of gold boxing gloves, and his team-mate, Harry Burnett, also received a varsity boxing letter. Evan "Bus" Male of the Virginia basketball team, was the recipient of a varsity letter, while Charles Wonson was awarded freshman numerals in swimming.

Staunton's 77th Final Exercises Commence
Saturday, May 29th*Jay W. Johns, Class of 1908, Will Be Speaker at Finals

Staunton Military Academy's seventy-seventh commencement begins next Saturday, May 29, with the Senior Class informal dance, and ends the following Tuesday, June 1, with the graduating exercises. Other events of the commencement weekend will be on Sunday, May 30, the Baccalaureate Sermon at Trinity Episcopal Church by Dr. J. J. Gravatt, rector of that church, a concert by the famous Stonewall Brigade Band, and the dress parade for the sponsors. On Monday the final parade, competitive drills, class day exercises, reception to graduates and visitors, and final ball, are scheduled.

Tuesday morning, June 1, the graduating exercises will be held, at which time Mr. Jay W. Johns, president of the Virginia State Chamber of Commerce, will be the orator. Mr. Johns is a Staunton alumnus of the class of 1908. Fifty-eight cadets are candidates for graduation.

Staunton Takes Third Place
In Washington Track Meet

The Staunton track team took third place in the Central "C" Club's annual track and field meet in Washington, D. C., last Saturday. The S. M. A. team ran up a score of 17 points against 28 for Episcopal High and 18 for the Bullis School.

Schupka, in the pole vault, captured the lone first made by the blue and gold team, Duff taking second place. The S. M. A. relay team, consisting of Neall, Puett, Gilbert, J., and Gilbert, H., took second place in the medley relay. Staunton's star hurdler, John Gilbert, placed third in the 120-yard high hurdles, and Gilbert, H., placed third in the mile.

Twice before, in 1920 and 1921, Staunton won first place in this meet. This year marks the second consecutive time Episcopal High has captured highest honors in The Block "C" Meet, needing only one more victory to gain permanent possession of the winner's trophy.

COLLEGE BOARD EXAMINATIONS
WILL BE GIVEN HERE JUNE 19-26

The College Board examinations will be held here between June 19 and June 26. They will be taken, this year, by Seiberling, Perine, R., and Schaper, who are entering Harvard, Princeton, and Yale, respectively. Seiberling and Schaper are taking the examinations under plan B, while Perine will take the exams under plan A.

Letter to Parents From The Superintendent

Dear Friends:

From time to time during the year we have sent you a copy of our school paper, The Kablegram. We have done this because we know that you are interested in everything we are doing here at Staunton. Boys receive this paper every two weeks, but as parents we know that boys are not always as thoughtful as they might be in keeping us informed about the things in which we are vitally concerned. I hope you have enjoyed our little school paper and that it indicated to you that our plans at Staunton all revolve around the purpose of the school: to help your boy.

Our work is the work we are able to accomplish with your son. This school and this organization are not perfect, and we are not successful with all boys, but I do want to assure you that we have tried to make this school a successful, profitable, and helpful place for each cadet enrolled. After twenty-four years of working with boys and their parents, I have found that parents are reasonable and willing at all times to co-operate with the school fully so that that school can do its best for their son. Few parents are ambitious to have their boys valedictorians of the class, but all parents are rightfully concerned about the boys' doing their best, using their time wisely, and establishing habits of study and life that will help them forever in the future. Parents are reasonable in their ambition for their sons, for they are always satisfied when boys do their best. Of course the parent is disappointed when a boy has not done his best, when a boy has not been as ambitious scholastically as he should have been, and when the school has not been able to stir that boy and inspire him in such a way that as a result the year has meant the most to him. Of course, some boys do not adjust themselves to a new environment, higher standards of work, and the regularity of military school life as quickly and as easily as other boys. At the present time there are boys in the senior class whom we would recommend with difficulty to college, if we had to do it on the basis of their first year's work at Staunton, while they were adjusting themselves to a new environment, new standards, and a new way of living in the midst of friends, but also strangers.

What we have accomplished during the year has been done by the hard work of many people. The writer of this letter has done little of the actual work of the school, although I have tried to be here, give my time and attention unsparingly to boys, and help in every way possible to make Staunton the type of school you want it to be for your son. Your inspiration and encouragement during the year, as well as the presence here from time to time of many of our parents, have all been a great help in my personal part of this job. We have not succeeded with all boys, but it is about these boys I have had the greatest concern during the year.

Our percentage increase in enrollment during the past two years has been as great as that of any school in the East. At the present time we have every reason to believe that our enrollment will be increased again for the coming year and that in September our number will exceed four hundred boys. I am not trying to make Staunton the biggest military school in the country, for the biggest school is not necessarily the best. It is my own idea that a school varying from four hundred to five hundred boys represents a unit in school work that can be organized to the best advantage of the good work of that school and the boy himself. During the past two years, we have enrolled a number of boys who have been

Fred Neely, '20, who for the past seven years has been Chief, Information and Statistics Division, Bureau of Air Commerce, in the Department of Commerce at Washington, has resigned this position and accepted the assistant managership of the aviation department of the Gulf Oil Corporation, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Theo. V. Horner, Jr., '26, and Mrs. Horner were visitors at the academy recently. He is executive sales manager of Lake Park Development Co., Painsville, Ohio.

W. S. Brown, '26, who holds the record of nine years as a cadet at S. M. A., sends best regards to everybody. Brown's home is at Sharon, Pa.

F. W. Wollrab, '11, and Mrs. Wollrab visited the school for a day last month.

Mr. and Mrs. George L. Bunting announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Catherine Bunting, March 24, 1937. Bunting graduated in 1928.

Bob Rose, '36, is a member of the reporting staff of the Daily Pennsylvanian, the student newspaper of the University of Penn.

W. B. Martin, Jr., '24, P. O. Box 4, Station A., San Antonio, Texas, would like to hear from some of the "Old Boys" of the days of 1920-24. Martin is with Sunshine Pecan Shelling Co., of above address.

Ned Evans, '26, is working with Houff Metzger and Co., 580 Fifth Ave., New York. His home address is 1 Sheridan Square, New York.

Harry B. Henshell, '35, is at Brown University, and says he is the only Staunton representative there. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

Charles A. Roeder, '29, is news editor-in-chief of W.C.B.M., the Baltimore Broadcasting Corporation. It has been through the courtesy of Roeder that alumni in the vicinity of Baltimore have been able to hear S.M.A. sport news over W.C.B.M.

Robert Topping, x-'26, dramatic tenor, recently gave a concert in this vicinity. He is under the management of National Concert Association, Washington, D. C., and is said to be "one of the outstanding American tenors." Old boys will remember Topping as a real vocalist, even in his cadet days.

Max W. Goodlet, '26, C. L. Cogswell, '32, and Sam C. Redman, '33, with a party of friends motored down from Washington last Sunday and attended dress parade.

T. J. C. Mayo, x-'27, has, with his wife, been on a cruise to the West Indies. He writes:

"It might interest you to know that on my West Indies cruise I had the pleasure of spending most of one day with my old "rat," Owen Clarke, whose family own one of the outstanding sugar plantations in the world, and we had the pleasure of having lunch at his house. Going through the Panama Canal the captain of our boat was Panama Rowe, whom I met just as we were landing at Panama City. We almost knocked each other off the boat, our meeting was so accidental. He told me McGinnis was in Panama City. I tried to call on him but, unfortunately, could not get him. On the cruise with us was a boy named Bremer, whom you may remember, from Philadelphia. He was on his honeymoon, and recognized me on the second day out as having been a rat in my old company."

David C. Eberhart, Jr., has received an appointment as assistant to the director of the Division of Federal Register in the National Archives, Washington, D. C.

LETTERS FROM OLD BOYS

Freehold, New Jersey
April 16, 1937.

The Kablegram,
Staunton, Va.
Gentlemen:

I have just received my Kablegram, April 9th issue, and had the pleasure of reading the letter from Fred Wollrab. Taking his tip I am writing this letter in hopes you will give it space in your next issue and arouse some of the boys of 1911 to do likewise.

I am now located in Freehold, attached to the Prosecutor's office in the capacity of a detective, which position I have held for the past fifteen years and prior to which I was chief clerk, rounding out my twenty-second year in this office. My official rank being that of finger print expert, and in charge of the identification bureau.

About a year ago I had the pleasure of going to Toms River, New Jersey, about twenty miles from here, to see the basketball team from S. M. A. play the team of the Farragut Naval Academy. At which time I met Kable Russell, son of Colonel Russell, whom all the boys of 1911 will remember as the boy in the picture of the year book standing on the desk beside his father, holding the S. M. A. pennant. The team was then on a Northern tour, and was traveling by bus, carrying the letters on its side reading, Staunton Military Academy, which was quite unlike the old days when the team would embark on the good old C. and O.

During all of my experience in identification work, never has it been my lot to make an identification of an S. M. A. o.d boy, which in my line of work certainly speaks well for the old crowd, for sad to relate, I have finger-printed ex-students of a great many schools that I remember when going to Staunton, and it is surprising how many college men fall afoul of the law and come through the identification bureau. Many times while traveling through other states when I have been away on extradition matters, I have felt that some old S. M. A. boy has been in the cities I have been to, but for lack of addresses I have missed the chance of contacting them, and I think that Wollrab's suggestion that the fellows avail themselves of the alumni column had made known their present location would be a splendid thing.

So come on, Jasroy Strong, Hill Meyers, Arch Perkins, Tuck Sorena, Hoskins, Pate, Villapigue, McKusick, Hardesty, Reed, L., Bill Stacy, and Lanyon, and lets hear from you.

They tell me that old "Sammy Kent" as I was known at Staunton, has changed a lot. Not so much in appearance, but from that thing called "making a living", and too, I have been through and seen a lot since leaving the old school, and I had a lot to make up for "foolin'" while there, but take it all in all I haven't a kick with this old world, and have a good wife, a wonderful daughter, who by the way stands over six foot and is twenty-one years old, and had she been a boy, old S. M. A. would have had another drum-major to contend with.

... good many years have rolled past since dress parade days, study hall, and frat initiations, to say nothing of Wilson's drug store, Hill Top and Stuart Hall, and of course I must include "The Beat," but many times as I slip into the arms of Morpheus, I can still hear old Paul Wing blowing Taps, and some cadet calling "Sentinel number 3."

To all the old boys of the "Sammy Kent" days, let me extend my best wishes, and take Wollrab's tip and write the Kablegram.

With personal regards for all, I am

Sincerely yours,
MERRITT (SAMMY) KENT, x-'12.
County Detective, Freehold, N. J.

LETTERS FROM OLD BOYS

(Note: The following letter is from an alumnus of fifty-two years ago, Frank Sublett, Class of 1885, Harrisonburg, Va. Mr. Sublett is an author of note and has published a book of poems. The Kablegram is indebted to Captain Wenger, a friend of Mr. Sublett's, for this interesting letter.)

Dear Mr. Editor:

When I read The Kablegram and read letters from some of the Old Boys, I am overwhelmed with emotions of recollections of the happy days I spent in my boyhood at Kables School, fifty-odd years ago, and I wish you boys could know with what interest I have watched your activities and noticed what great improvements you have made.

In 1885 when I attended Kables School, there were only two buildings: the long brick residence, and a large frame school building on the west side of the campus. Captain Kable was then quite an old man with a heavy beard. The faculty consisted of a Doctor Trophagen, who taught Chemistry; Dr. Gordon who taught languages, and Prof. Varner who taught Math. Captain Kable had charge of the large classroom and general subjects. We had that year only about twenty-five students, mostly day students from town.

I started as a day student, but not liking school, commenced playing hookey. I was caught, of course, and my father took me up one morning in his buggy and left me there as a boarder. I shall never forget my first meal. Cecil Baker emptied the salt-cellar into my coffee and ordered me to drink it. Jim Strickler gouged his elbow into my side and told me to go on and drink it, so I did. It made me awfully sick and nauseated. Sweet Mother Kable came out onto the porch and held my head until I recovered. I have loving remembrances of how kind she was to me then and at other times, too.

My roommates were Gaston Caperton, St. John DuVal, and Perry Weise.

Sometimes we would climb down the porch posts on the veranda and slip out. One night when I got back from a sneak-off, I could not climb the post, but kept slipping back. Someone had greased it. I thought Perry Weise was the guilty fellow, but to this day have never learned whether he was the one who did it.

I have not seen Perry nor Gaston Caperton for years. Maybe they have gone on, as most of my schoolmates have. I had a letter a few days ago from St. John DuVal. He is at Quantin, Virginia, happy doing work for underprivileged boys. He maintains a camp for 200 boys, some twenty-five miles below Richmond, paying all the expenses himself. He is a man of the finest character, and in all these years I have held his example as a choice remembrance.

I am sure that every boy of the present student body, as well as every alumnus, has had the thrill of a smile or a flirtation with the Mary Baldwin girls. Maybe just a wave of the hand, or the flutter of a handkerchief as you passed down New Street when you went to town. I know it is a very happy remembrance to me. And now for a secret I have kept and treasured for fifty years: I was very much smitten, by sight only, of a beautiful girl from Alabama, but with all my scheming, was never able to meet her. Still, I had a genuine case of puppy love, and in my mind built many aircastles and romantic imaginary experiences. About half-way up the hill on New Street there was a large stone in the fence wall. I think it is still there. On the North side of the stone there is a fissure in which I would place notes, or billets-doux, on my way to town, stopping on my way back for answers. One time I got a little

Cadet Coleman Connects With Distant Alumnus By Wireless

Recently, Cadet James M. Coleman, who is an amateur radio operator, got in touch with an alumnus of the Staunton Military Academy in London.

The apparatus was placed at twenty-meters C. W., one-hundred watts, when the contact was made.

Out of a million signals on the band, Coleman picked up a call from England. After a few words in code back and forth, the call was found to be from London and the sender was a man named Brown. It was soon found out that Brown had been a student at S. M. A. and had lived in the United States, but was now connected with a shipping concern in London. Coleman also learned that Brown first found interest in wireless while a student at Staunton and had followed it through as a hobby. Many questions were asked about the school, and before the connection was broken, Brown left the message that he still has a longing and a desire to visit S. M. A.

Coleman was unable to get Brown's first name or the year he attended Staunton, but he will try to connect with him again soon.

The Honor Roll of the class of 1936, consisting of those who passed all subjects in their first college semester has recently been released by the Headmaster's Office. The list is as follows:

Blakeslee, Virginia; Pierson, Princeton; Lacock, Washington and Jefferson; Light, Colgate; Burnett, Colgate; Carringer, Lehigh; Townsend, Dartmouth; Shivers, Virginia Military Institute; Newins, Penn State; Philliber, Penn State; Dotterweich, St. Vincent; Homan, Cincinnati; Littlejohn, Clemson; Sorensen, Rollins; Neary, Arizona; Fisher, Duke; Filberbaum, Wisconsin.

An interesting letter has been received from Donald A. Meggs, '20, who is secretary and manager of Rhodes-Collins Furniture Co., West Palm Beach, Fla. Meggs sent news of Newt Lummus, who is lieutenant-governor of Kiwanis in Florida. He has recently seen J. L. Little, '17, Jack Southeimer, and Bob Newman.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. White, Jr., '30, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. George S. Turner, parents of Mrs. White, visited the "Hill" on May 8th. It is probable that their son, George Turner, will be a cadet at Staunton next year.

H. T. Hosking, Jr., '23, visited the Academy last week. He had been attending a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers at Hot Springs, Va.

Glenn Irvin, x-'33, and Harvey Solomon, x-'33, are planning to attend finals this year.

Walter C. Everett, '31, passed through Staunton on his honeymoon last week. He was married April 17.

poem written out by hand, entitled "The Widow."

When you tell her how you love her
Don't think she is deceived,
Don't think she believes,
For she's been there several times before.

When you put your arm around her and squeeze her

Until you can't squeeze any more,
Don't think she's going to faint;
She is fooling you—she ain't—
For she has been there several times before."

I never could make out what it meant, and never had a chance to ask her. I did not know whether it was a bursting of my dream bubble, an invitation, or a warning. She is with the angels now, and I shall never know.

MASSANUTTEN BEATS STAUNTON BASEBALL TEAM TWELVE-EIGHT

The last baseball game of the year to be played at home was lost by the S. M. A. nine to a strong Massanutten team. With Spuhler pitching for the Blue and Gold, the opposing team began a rally in the first inning by running the score up to four to nothing. Failing to score till the last of the second, Laux and Brackman came over the plate for two runs. Through results of errors the opposing team managed to get four more runs, and with a last rally in the ninth they went in the lead with the score of 12 to 6. In the last of the ninth, Strohl and Kehs brought over two more runs for the Blue and Gold, making the final score 12 to 8. Pitching for S. M. A. were Spuhler, Pavluchik, and Schaper, while Peters pitched for the opponents.

STAUNTON NETMEN DEFEAT FISHBURNE BY 6-1 SCORE

The Staunton tennis team came through with another victory last Monday with a decisive win over Fishburne. The final score was 6-1, the team having lost only one singles match.

Fairbairn easily won his match from Childers, E., 6-2, 6-2, and Aurand took his match from Childers, R., by a 6-0, 6-0 count. Warwick, playing in the No. 3 position, lost his match to Shedd with a 7-5, 6-2 result. Stevens and Vosburg each won their matches from their opponents by the scores of 6-3 and 6-4.

In the doubles Tremble and Fairbairn were the victors over Cooper and Cooper, and Aurand and Stevens paired together to defeat Payne and Shedd in two sets, 6-4 and 6-2.

S. M. A. NINE GAINS WIN OVER FORK UNION TEAM

In a first half drive for a victory over the Fork Union nine, the Staunton varsity baseball team scored six runs from seven hits allowed by Pitcher Buzas in the third and fourth innings. Spuhler, with better control than the opposing pitcher, though he allowed nine hits, kept his bad offerings well spaced, never allowing more than two to an inning, holding the Fork Union team to a scoreless game after their first two markers run up in the fifth.

AUGUSTA'S PEDIGO SHUTS OUT STAUNTON IN PITCHER'S DUEL

Led by their brilliant left-hander, Henry Pedigo, Augusta Military Academy defeated S. M. A. by a score of four to nothing. For six innings the game was an old time pitching duel, with Staunton's "Hap" Spuhler holding his own with the visitors' star.

Leonard Taylor, '30, is making plans to attend commencement this year.

Carson P. Buck, '29, Canton, N. Y., is employed as a civil engineer with the U. S. Coast and Geodetic Survey. Buck graduated in 1933 from Clark College of Technology as a civil engineer, and received his Master's degree in Education from St. Lawrence University in 1935. He expects soon to get into the teaching field of engineering.

James E. Penn, of Bryson City, N. C., a freshman at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Troy, N. Y., has been elected a member of the Rensselaer Society of Engineers.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Penn, Bryson City, and is taking the course in architecture at Rensselaer. Before entering Rensselaer Polytechnic, he attended the Staunton Military Academy.

Wilfred Rombo, Jr., '31, will graduate this month from the Philadelphia College of Osteopathy. He has received a fellowship in the department of pathology. Brant Dittmore, '30, and Gilbert Dorrance, '32, are also students in the above school.

William Berne, '36, was married to Miss Rose Kyle, of Staunton, Va., in April.

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Long Alexander announce the engagement of their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, to Mr. Albert Mason Rockwell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lena W. Rockwell, of Wethersfield, Conn.

Mr. Rockwell is a graduate of the Staunton Military Academy, and attended the University of Miami. He holds a position with the Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Corporation.

The wedding will take place in the early fall.

FISHBURNE NINE DROPS CONTEST TO S.M.A. TEAM

In a game previously postponed on account of rain, the Staunton varsity baseball team administered a licking to the Fishburne nine by a score of eight to five on the "hill." Staunton took a five-point lead in the first inning.

Shaper was relieved by Spuhler in the fifth inning, who held the visitors hitless for the remainder of the game.

Fork Union Bows To Staunton 6 To 5

The S. M. A. baseball team defeated Fork Union last Saturday six to five. Staunton got six runs on seven hits in the third and fourth innings off the pitching of Buzas. Fork Union collected nine hits off Spuhler, but he kept them well scattered. Spuhler got himself into many tight spots, but nearly always managed to work out of them. Fork Union had eleven men left stranded on the base paths, to Staunton's four. S. M. A. was credited with five earned runs, while Fork Union made only one. Staunton made four errors, and Fork Union took advantage of nearly all of them.

McNair, Staunton's shortstop, was hit by a pitched ball in the first inning and had to retire from the game with a possible chipped elbow.

Brafford led the Staunton batters with two hits in four trips to the plate. Cornell led the Fork Union batters with two hits in three official trips to the plate.

recommended by parents. These recommendations on your part are always more valuable, for parents will give far more attention to what you say about Staunton than to anything we may say about ourselves.

This letter is much longer than it should be, but I did not want the last issue of The Kablegram to come to you without taking this opportunity to express in behalf of the faculty and all others who have helped to make this year a success our appreciation for your inspiration and help during the past school year.

With assurances that our interest and willingness to help your boy will continue forever in the future, I am

Very sincerely yours,

A LITTLE BIT OF EVERYTHING

ADVICE TO THE GRADUATING CLASS

You are all going out into the world of life. Some will be successful—some won't. But to you all I offer this advice.

1. Don't cash checks. Some people can make rubber look like paper.
2. Don't loaf. It'll be hard not to after a long time here, but do your best.
3. Don't tell business associates about when you were at S.M.A. They don't give a darn.
4. Don't lose your sense of humor. And, above all,
5. Don't read trash like this, or you'll wind up in the State Hospital.

MY DEAR, DRAG UP A CHAIR

Well, fellas, this is my last chance to spill ye dirt on you. I must say that I have very little, but here goes—

I just bumped into Billie Colingwood—little Billie wears pink knitted undershirts—goodie—

Hear ye, hear ye! Bill Borda and Leon Trotsky expect to get together this summer on a new plot. Yowza!

Who could have placed the snobby light bulbs in the wash rooms . . . they have the wrong address . . .

The silent drill team gets out of everything, and what do you think, they don't have to go to drill like the rest of us do—that's what they think!

Recently detailed by his chemistry teacher to get some flowers from the school garden in Echols field for an experiment, "Junior" Seiberling decided that the products of the flower-bed of a certain Mrs. ———, an influential citizen of Staunton, offered greater opportunities—Result: Mrs. ———'s "iris" is up, and Col. Sutherland is to be shot on sight! Sibi should have been nipped in the bud . . . yes, no?!!

Have you seen the list of "guys" who are going to Europe this summer? If the boat's missing, don't be surprised!

The New York "Times" is going to get Don McAdoo to write "jokes" for them next year . . . do tell?

They tell me that Tappen likes opera—maybe he's getting ready for the laughing part in Pagliacci—yippee—

"Rube" Orme's trying to get up enough nerve to write Jean Harlow a letter . . . such tish . . .

IN MEMORY

I reckon you know that the day has come,

For all to say good-bye.

I guess you know it's hard for some, They're leavin' with a sigh.

Before the time for us to leave,
We cussed and fretted and fumed,
But now most all of us conceive,
We'll miss the boys with whom we've roomed.

When we are home and have time to talk,

We could probably say—and mean,
"I would like just one more walk,
Down to that old canteen."

Then some night when your spirits don't soar,

And you find that something lacks,
I'll bet you wish you could hear once more,
The sound of—Silver Taps.

—J. GREENE.

Education pays. By the time you are through college, you can get a job from the kid who quit school in the seventh grade.—Exchange.

A LETTER MOST ANY SENIOR COULD WRITE

Staunton Military Academy
Staunton, Va.
May 21, 1937

Dear Jack:

Well, here I am again. I have been doing a lot of work the last week, and therefore I have not been able to write to you.

I guess you know that I am getting out of this place for the last time. You know, it ain't quite what I expected. I mean that I am not quite able to get the thrill that I was planning to have when I got out. I have been figuring for the last few weeks that I don't know whether I am going to want to stay away from the old school or not. I know, I have been cussing it out, but now that the time grows near to leave I can't seem to find the same pleasure that I was expecting a few months back.

I have been going here for four years, and now that I realize that I will not be able to come back I find that the idea does not set quite right. I know that I will have a good time during my vacation, but when the boys start to come back next fall, I know that there is going to be something sticking in my throat.

Since you have never been to this school, I know that you can't seem to figure me out. Wait until you have close contact with a bunch of fellows as long as I have had with these. Then I am sure that you will understand what I mean.

I have gotten a lot of hard breaks here, and yet when I look back, a lot of them were my own fault. I just can't seem to get it in my head that on June the 1st I will be looking at all these surroundings for the last time. I have looked at them so long, I find that I am going to have a hard time saying good-bye to them. South Barracks, the place where "sticks" come to life, will always remind me of the things that have gone on there. I got away with plenty in that old building. I think of all the fights and feuds that were held in there.

I know that I am boring you, but that is the way I feel at the moment. I don't think I will ever change my opinion—ever. I have to stop now, so I will end by saying

Happy days,
A. SENIOR.

Meet Our Seniors

CLAUDE C. PURKITT

"Man Mountain Dean," or just "Purk," as some of the boys call him, hails from Willows, California. "Purk" is an all-round man in athletics, and he isn't the worse when it comes to getting around in the academic line. Having started out as a private in "C" Company last year, "Purk" thought he would like to join that great fraternity of non-coms on the hill; so he settled down to become a corporal—later rising to the rank of sergeant.

On the football field "Purk" is all over (get it?) and now he occupies the position behind home plate on the diamond. Ask him, though, some time, why he waves that foot at the pitcher when at bat!

In the barracks the Dean brother is one of those "get 'em" boys, always entering any argument or fight that happens to take place.

JOHN MESSER

"Johnny" Messer, one of the greatest "guys" at S. M. A., is quite a well known personage around the campus. Though more or less of a lion with the boys in ranks, t'ain't so with the fair damsels hanging on his heels!

Almost any afternoon one can go down to the pool and find our hero parting the waters with a stroke that has helped S. M. A. win many a swimming meet for the past four years. To keep swimming company in his athletic career, the captain of "B" Company had added to his record two years of participation as a member of the varsity football team, where he was one of the outstanding guards on the field—always in there fighting.

Compared to the athletic record of Messer, his military achievements are equally good, if not better. For his first two years at the academy, he was a private (gaining the valuable understanding of the gripes and groans of the boys in ranks). From then on his rise has been steady and sure—third year sergeant—fourth year lieutenant—and now he has attained the position of captain of Company "B." He has led his company to the top in company efficiency and has held the loyalty of his company throughout the year.

JAMES A. DOWNS

Look, girls, there's "Jim" Downs. Isn't he good looking? He never gives the girls a tumble, either! We're not surprised, though, for Jim's chief love is snakes. Last year two of the most adorable Texas rattlers held full sway in his room until the lads in South (and also "Jake," the shoe-shine boy) began to object. Then Jim had to send his darlings home and add them to his collection there.

This year, snakes being barred from school, Jim has substituted for his gentle companions the collecting of pipes and call-cards from foreign radio stations. Most any night you may hear a stifled, "Hey, you guys, I got Japan on," emanating from his room.

Jim started the year as Company "C's" first sergeant, but the commandant, deciding that he needed at least one good-looking officer in the battalion, elevated him to fill the vacancy. No better man has ever pounded the pavements of that great metropolis, Westfield, New Jersey, whence our hero hails. It is our hope that he has excellent luck in whatever he aims at after his graduation from S. M. A.

DAVID RUSSELL

"Papa, how long has David been going to S. M. A.?"

"Hush, son. He started long before my time."

Yes, "Dave" is really a landmark around this noble institution—as ageless as Major Steele's automobile. A massive brain which now and then shows itself in spite of his modest efforts to keep it hidden behind that bland countenance.

Dave started off the year as one of "C" Company's able lieutenants, but his natural self-consciousness caused him to take off those brazen stripes on his coat-sleeve. An ex-captain of the rifle team, he once made the highest score in the Third Corps Area rifle match.

All of his accomplishments only go to show that Dave is a man of few words but much action. He has literally been brought up in the shadow of the school, and probably knows more about everything concerning it than any other cadet here. A real part of S. M. A. will leave when Dave graduates.

WILLIAM G. WORDEN

"Fire! Fire!" Never mind. It's only "Bill" Worden, a New York lad, up to his old tricks again. He adds a lot to the general state of good humor prevalent in South Barracks. His sudden meaningless ejaculations, his descriptions of such things as New York taxi drivers rusing to pick up a fare, as well as his quaint Manhattan brogue combine to make him a jovial character indeed!

Bill is really a politician, and can argue you out of (or into) anything so quickly and completely that you wonder how you could ever have thought any other way. In fact, he often waxes so vociferous (hollers so loud—to youse mugs) that he runs Post a close second for being the biggest and best Mexican Athlete. His theory of life verges on the Communistic, for he believes in the common sharing of all property (other people's as well as his own).
