Ribbons Awarded For Last Semester

McCallie School Bows to SMA 32-0

The SMA Hilltoppers defeated the McCallie School of Chattanooga, Tennessee on last Friday by the score of 32-0. Staunton received the opening kickoff. After four short plays Dave Buck crossed over for the cadets first TD. Soon after receiving the ball, McCallie was forced to punt; and with Kotyra, Gardner, and Deola running the ball back, Dave Buck plunged over for the second score. Cole received for McCallie, but again they were forced to punt, and SMA's third touchdown came with Deola smashing over for the tally. Stevens received for McCallie; and three plays later the ball was on the Staunton 30; but due to a series of reverses, the cadets regained possession of the ball. They, in turn, were forced to kick. SMA intercepted a pass, and Roy Michanczyk caught a long pass and went over to make the score 24-0. The fifth touchdown for SMA came when Johnnie Gardner picked a fumble out of the air and ran a spectacular 20 yards to the goal. The McCallie lone touchdown came in the fourth quarter when Clemmer received a pass from Stevens.

Staunton scored the first touchdown without ever losing the ball. Danny Kotyra, on a 65 yard jaunt, carried the ball to the McCallie 20 yard line. After carrying the ball three consecutive times, Dave Buck tallied. The conversion attempt was wide. Lou Michaels kicked off for Staunton, and the McCallie left halfback Dover

Rev. Albert Edwards Speaks At Assembly

"Pauses are music in the making". This was the topic of the Reverend Albert Edwards' speech to the Cadet Corps at assembly last week. Mr. Edwards is a Presbyterian Minister from Harrisonburg, Va.

In his speech the visitor showed us, that sometimes, although we experience interruptions in our lives, we are often made better because of these interruptions. Therefore, "Pauses are music in the making."

Staunton Alumni Killed In Korea

Twice this week, Staunton officials have received word of the death of S.M.A. alumni in Korea.

The two former cadets were Second Lt. James E. Marshall of Charleston, W. Va., and Second Lt. Charles H. Detweiler of Haverford, Pa. Lt. Marshall had just recently written to a school official, informing him of his meeting up with Lt. Detweiler on Old Baldy in Korea. They were both members of the Third Battalion, Third Infantry Division.

The son of a Philadelphia newspaper executive, Lt. Detweiler received his commission upon graduating from Lafayette College. He had been in Korea only 18 days when he met his death.

Lt. Detweiler, while at S.M.A. was a Cadet Captain on the academic honors list, and was on both the Kablegram and Shrapnel staffs, and the Howie Rifles.

New System Used For Selection Of Honor Company

Cadet Captain Sam Gay's Company "E" captured the blue and gold Honor Flag for the month of September. This was the first Company to be chosen by the new method of Honor Company selection. By the new system, the companies are rated in eight different fields.

The first is academic and military grades. Each cadet's grades are averaged to obtain the company academic average. The military grades are also averaged. These grades are of equal value toward the selection of Honor Company.

The second is military march-in's at mess. This event will be judged entirely by cadet officers.

Next is intramural sports. The Athletic Department is responsible for the scheduling and recording of games. The results are submitted to the P.M.S.&T. each month.

The fourth and most important is discipline and conduct; only academics can be considered on nearly the same level. The company with the least total number of demerits will receive the points allotted to this field.

Number five is Sunday dress parades. These are judged by the P.M.S.&T., the Regimental Commander, a cadet judge, and the adjutant. Each judge is allotted a certain number of votes to be cast for

Halloween Dance Scheduled For Saturday, Oct. 25

On Friday night of next week, from 9 to 12 o'clock the annual Halloween Dance will be held in the large gymnasium. The decorations will be Halloween skeletons, witches, and pumpkins, and corn stalks placed around the walls. The Cavaliers will furnish the music for this dance.

There will be square dancing and an apple bobbing contest for the cadets. In the past, Colonel Jones, the Superintendent, has taken part in this game. Cadets always eagerly look forward to this feature of the Halloween dance.

The chance to get out of uniform and into civies is much appreciated by the cadets. The costume for the dance will be blue jeans and lumber jack shirts. The dates of the cadets will be costumed in gingham dresses.

The Cotillion Club has announced that for the Thanksgiving dance, the first formal of the year. The Vagabonds have been secured to provide the music.

Honor

Noah Webster described honor as "integrity, excellence of character, uprightness"; other famous men have attempted to define honor in high-sounding terms. But do these vague intangibles mean anything to you? Does "integrity of character" keep you from copying from your neighbor's quiz paper? Let us see if some of these ineffable qualities can be transposed into colloquial, readily-understood, language.

The basic principle of honor is the age-old Golden Rule. It means just what it says: "Do unto others as you would have them do unto you." If you would have your friend pay back the quarter he borrowed, pay back first the quarter you borrowed from someone else. If you would be proud of yourself (and we all are), at least keep your actions worthy of some small measure of pride. All of us have, at some time or other, violated one of the rules of honesty. Possibly it was customary to cheat in the high school you attended before coming to S.M.A. This is not cause for worry; let your regret take the form of a sincere effort at improvement. Everyone makes a mistake once; a fool makes the same mistake twice.

Many people object rigorously to the clause in the Honor Code which requires a cadet to turn in violators of the Code, and many people feel quite righteously that there is no reason why one shouldn't help his friends on a test. This form of help must not be confused with Christian charity. If your friend asked you to give him a knife so that he might cut his throat, you would refuse to do it. But if you give your friend assistance on work which he should have mastered, you are giving him the knife with which to cut his spiritual throat; you are severing the dictates of his conscience from his soul, and if your friend makes a higher score than you, his fraudulent mark might give him an overwhelming advantage in opportunities over your honest score.

The Honor Code at S.M.A. is more than friendship, more than personal achievement, and greater than any one of us. Whereas friendship is frail and limited, Honor is immortal. If you develop habits of Honor now, at the age when minds are most easily molded, they will stand you in good stead for the rest of your life in whatever vocation you choose.

What Makes A Leader?

Leadership is an art that can be learned and practiced by anyone who possesses the mental and physical prerequisites.

Some of the basic elements of a leader are the thorough knowledge of his job, the ability to instruct intelligently, and a strong feeling of responsibilities. One of the first responsibilities of a leader might be the command of a group of men. It is up to him to see that the men eat proper food, receive the proper training, wear the proper clothing, obtain the proper amount of rest, and follow the prescribed health rules. One of the most important functions of a good leader is to see that his men are properly cared for.

Another requirement for leadership is character. The selection of leaders is based primarily on known qualities of character. Character is the collection of the moral and mental qualities of an individual. If one has good character he should be able to obtain the respect of his men.

The most important characteristic of a leader is self-confidence. A leader must possess the soldierly qualities of neatness, honesty, loyalty, courage, obedience, and efficiency. Possessing these basic elements, one will become a leader, not only in the eyes of his men, but also in the eyes of his superiors.

first, second, or third place. The Band is always given a score equal to that of third place.

Following parades is performance of guard duty. The winner of this field will be determined by a point system. In view of the probability that all companies will not be assigned guard an equal number of times, all companies will be rated on the least number of times they have all served on guard. Whenever a guard detail is awarded a merit, the number of points it earns will be doubled.

Number seven is the performance of daily drill, Saturday inspection, and other fields associated with the military life. This is to be rated only by the Commandant.

The last, number eight, is the performance of church squads, actions in the Mess Hall, nightly conduct during C. Q., and other fields associated with the parts of daily living which are not necessarily a part of military life. These are rated by the Commandant only.

Pass In Review

George Snyder

Cadet Captain George Snyder, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder, hails from Long Island, N. Y.

George came to S.M.A. in 1948 and attended the Junior School. He spent his first year on the "Hill" as a private in "A" Company. The next year George served as a sergeant in the same company. Last year he earned the rank of first sergeant of "A" Company. George is now the First Battalion Commander and is a Cadet Captain.

An outstanding athlete, George is the co-captain of the swimming team. Being on the junior varsity team for one year and the varsity team for four years, he has swum almost every event. However, his outstanding performances have been in the two hundred yard freestyle and the individual medley. He has been in the Howie Rifles for three years and this year is serving on the Honor Committee. He is also a member of the Varsity Club.

George has won the Commandant's Ribbon once and the Merit Ribbon twice. Having a very deep feeling towards discipline, he believes that the Rat Rules accomplish a great deal of good. It is his claim that Rat Rules prepare cadets for future responsibilities at S.M.A., and also for later life.

When asked what benefits S.M.A. has bestowed upon him, George had a very definite answer. He said, "I believe that these past five years have taught me much to remember and look back upon with enjoyment and satisfaction in future years. The things that I have learned and tried to pass on to those who are following me will help me throughout my entire life. These past years have been an experience that I will never forget. I will always be indebted to the faculty, and especially to the many friends I have made here."

Snyder is undecided about college. A main qualification to be filled is that the college must have a good swimming pool.

What Do You Know About SMA?

South Barracks

The South Barracks have undergone many changes in past years. The Barracks were originally constructed of wood. In 1904, a fire demolished part of it. That which remained standing was torn down, and construction was started on the building in which we live today. While construction was in effect cadets were housed in local homes and the city Y.M.C.A.

"South" used to contain a small swimming pool. It was not the best of pools, but even so, it served the purpose of cooling off the cadets after a hot day of drill. For many years the commandant's office was room 300. During those years there was no guard house in the middle of the quadrangle. Rooms 100 and 101 were the guard rooms. Room 101 was used by the members of the guard sleeping in the guard house, and also for confining cadets under arrest in the guard house.

The rooms in the basement directly under 100 and 101 were used for many years as the carpenter shop. Also room 5 in the basement was the gymnasium, and dances were held there. It was also at one time headquarters for the school Y.M.C.A. It was a kind of activities room where mail was received, both coming in and going out. A kind of canteen was run there and dancing classes conducted. This room is almost as large as the study hall. In those days the Y.M.C.A. secretary, a faculty member, would give the mail for each company to the First Sergeant at delivery time. Each company had a place to get its mail some where on the asphalt area. There the sergeant would call out the names of those who had mail and toss the letter or package in the general direction of those who answered their names.

Where the barber shop now is was the Headmaster's office for many years, and it also was the school library. Class room 1 in South was once the Physics classroom and laboratory. For many years room 341 in "South" was headquarters of the athletic director and also his living quarters. It had a door opening onto the upper asphalt where the companies assemble, with a wooden ramp connecting the room to the asphalt. Until the present flag pole was erected about 1920, the flag pole was on top of South Barracks, above the large study hall area.

It is interesting to note that Tom Johnson, the oldest chief in the mess hall, helped in the reconstruction of "South" back in 1904.

Many improvements have been made in "South" since it was first constructed. At first, there were only washrooms in the basement under the first gallery, near where class room 1 is. In those days there was a man hole in the shower room connecting this room to the alley behind the barracks. A certain member of the faculty who is still here at S.M.A., once caught a couple of cadets trying to break barracks by going out through this manhole. In those days wire screening covered all windows on the first gallery.

BLUE AND GOLD

Danny Kotyra

A new cadet at S.M.A., Danny Kotyra, is already one of the most popular "rats" rooming in South Barracks. Danny, who is from Solvay, New York, is another of a long line of cadets from that area who have come to Staunton to complete their high school education. Because of his agreeable nature, he is an immediate favorite of everyone with whom he comes in contact. Solvay means a lot to this cadet, judging from certain perfumed letters. His only complaint about the rat rules is that he cannot go into the post office before 8 o'clock. Upon graduating, Danny plans to enroll in Cornell University.

Danny Kotyra

Besides outstanding achievements on the football squad he held office and was active in student government at his hometown school. This is proof of his popularity, not only on the gridiron, but also in the classrooms and among his fellow students. One of his teammates said "He is the best back I have ever played with or against, and also a great team player." Danny is not the type of football player who tries to capture all the glory for his personal gain, but he feels that his main duty is to the team.

Danny Kotyra's abilities are not confined to his constant all-the-way-threats on the football field, since he will also be one of the leading contenders for next years track team. His specialty is the hundred yard dash. Judging from Danny's speed and competitive desire we are sure that he will lead the track team to many victories. We are sure that Danny, with his high ideals and the ability to carry them out, will succeed in whatever phase of life he may enter.

BUT SIR!

There was a young man named Godiva,
Who late to retreat did arriva,
He sent forth a plea—
"But, Sir, can't you see?
I shined up my shoes with saliva!"

McCallie Game

carried it back 15 yards. Chorton Cole, McCallie's captain, tried three straight ground plays but were unsuccessful. Danny Kotyra received Stevens put and brought it back 15 yards. Kotyra and Gardner then ran 15 and 10 yards respectively, and they were followed by an 18 yard gain by Leroy Deola. Dave Buck again smashed over for the TD.

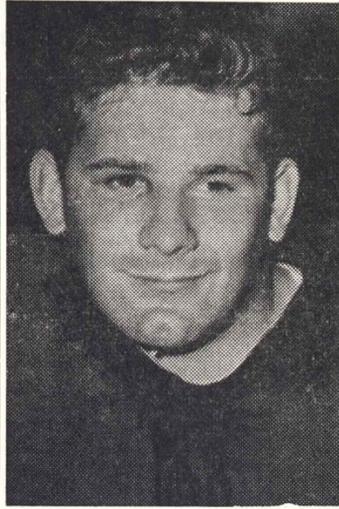

Receiving from Staunton, Cole ran 20 yards before being dropped. McCallie, trying another run, lost 10 yards because of a beautiful tackle by Ronne Latronica. Another tackle by Latronica forced Stevens to punt for McCallie. Starting from the 40 yard line, SMA marched to their third score with Leroy Deola carrying the ball over. Stevens received for McCallie but only went 10 yards. A penalty against the cadets and a 10 yard gain by Cole put the ball on the 30, but tackles by Jerry Kuren and Latronica accounted for a McCallie 12 yard loss. Billy Thompson of SMA received Stevens's kick and raced 16 yards. A long run by Deola gained 30 more yards. The Hilltoppers were momentarily stopped when Johnnie Gardner caught a pass from Cranwell good for 18 yards. Leroy Deola sprinted 8 yards, but then a penalty was imposed on the cadets putting the ball on the 40 yard stripe. At length, Lou Michaels was forced to kick. Latronica and Don Berger foiled two attempted runs, and Stevens tried another pass. SMA intercepted. A running pass by Billy Cranwell to Roy Michanczyk who scored made it 25-0.

Beginning the second half, McAdams received for McCallie but was brought down promptly by Michaels. After an unsuccessful run Stevens passed to Cole for 35 yards and a first down, but he was forced to kick three plays later. Running from the Staunton 10, Cranwell went 5 yards. Michaels kicked shortly afterwards;

ATHLETE OF THE MONTH

Leroy Deola

Leroy Deola gets this corner's nod for the singular athletic honor of Athlete of the Month. "Lee" comes from Philadelphia where he played for Edensburgh High. Five feet eight inches tall and weighing two hundred twenty-five, he has quite naturally been affectionately dubbed "Tank".

Leroy Deola

Extremely fast for one so rugged, Lee has been a leading ground gainer for the varsity in its three wins to date. It has become a familiar sight to see him carry three, four, or five would-be tacklers many yards as he careens along. He's an effective cog in our tremendous eleven this fall.

More may be heard from "Tank" after the football season since he is also a basketball player and a track performer.

Asked for opinions concerning his teammates, he said, "They are a fine bunch of boys and are good players. They have what it takes to win games and even the championship".

We hope his talents as a prophet are as good as they are as a pigskin lugger.

and in receiving Cole slipped on the 50 yard line. Tony Nasca and Don Berger dropped Cole in his attempt around right end. Staunton intercepted, and Gardner went 25 yards on a pass from Cranwell. Gardner gained 20 yards by running, and Michanczyk caught a beautiful pass from Cranwell on the next two plays. Johnnie Gardner, catching a spectacular fumble by Leroy Deola, sprinted 20 yards for the fifth TD. The conversion attempt was good and the score stood 32-0. Cole received for McCallie but was dropped by Tony Nasca. Losing ground, McCallie was forced to punt, and Hamilton Brown ran it back 20 yards. On the next

Staunton Downs Emery & Henry JV

Although Staunton Military Academy trampled over the Emery and Henry Jayvees on October 3 with a 27-0 victory, the game was by no means a walk-a-way for Staunton. The Emery and Henry tenacity forced S.M.A. to play shrewd football for every point they made. The first touchdown was made by a complete reversal when defensive end Pete Nasca intercepted an Emery and Henry lateral and ran in an open field for a 30 yard touchdown. A short while later the Staunton squad drove Emery and Henry back to their two yard line forcing them to punt. The kick was short, going only 35 yards; and the receiver Billy Cranwell hiked it back up to the Emery and Henry 15 yard stripe on the return. On the next play the S.M.A. quarterback hit paydirt by plunging over left tackle, making the score 13-0. The kick attempt for the extra point was wide.

In the second quarter S.M.A. started its long 80 yard march to a touchdown by quarterback Hamilton Brown's pass to halfback Danny Kotyra for a 12 yard gain. With six minutes remaining in the game S.M.A. backed the Emery and Henry team up against their own goal three times; and finally fullback Dave Buck, smashing over from the three yard line, scored the last touchdown of the game.

Staunton Faces Powerful Squad

Tomorrow the Staunton Blue and Gold will be pitted against Valley Forge Military Academy on Kable Field. This game will be the Staunton Cadets' last home game until November 8.

The Valley Forge cadets hope to make Staunton their first victory of the season. They lost their first two games to Cartier and Stevens schools; consequently, coach Bryant thinks that if S.M.A. plays ball like they have in the last three games, the team will not have any trouble trouncing Valley Forge. The Valley Forge team is alternating in the use of the "T" and the single wing formations this year. Calling the plays for Valley Forge will be Reese from Lake Ronk, New York, who is reported to be an excellent passer. Their Captain, Ferrebee, is a big boy from Homestead, Pennsylvania who plays in the line as center. The Valley Forge line is as big as the Staunton line. They have two large tackles weighing 225 and 245 pounds. Receiving Reese's passes will be a tall lanky end named Default. Although the Valley Forge line is large, their backfield is small; but it is fast and is able to do tricky ball handling.
